FRIENDS OF THE RARE BOOK ROOM
OF THE LIBRARY OF
THE NEW YORK ACADEMY OF MEDICINE

THE Rare Book Room at the Library of The New York Academy of Medicine houses valuable collections of interest to the professions as well as to the general public. Among the many items which may be viewed daily by visitors are:

The Edwin Smith Surgical Papyrus, about 4,000 years old.

A letter to his brother from Benjamin Franklin, concerning a silver catheter of his own invention, Philadelphia, 1752.

An outstanding collection of public health proclamations from the 16th to the 19th centuries, pertaining chiefly to epidemics and measures adopted to control them.

A large part of the Rare Book Room's priceless collection of books, pamphlets, manuscripts, letters and autographs by famous medical men, and many of the "collectors' items" of medical instruments and related objects have been acquired by purchase from dealers or from private sources. Other historical items from the medical field have come to us by donations or bequests from Academy Fellows. May we have your interest and support by enrolling you as a Member of the Rare Book Room?

THE NEW YORK ACADEMY OF MEDICINE

Eighth Annual Program on EMOTIONAL AND PSYCHIATRIC PROBLEMS IN MEDICAL PRACTICE

The spring 1967 session of The New York Academy of Medicine's Eighth Annual Series of Courses on Emotional and Psychiatric Problems in Medical Practice will be held at the Academy beginning on March 13th. All physicians in specialty and general practice are eligible.

Each course will consist of seven weekly, small-group, one and one-half hour sessions. Methods of instruction will include didactic and actual case presentations, group discussions and audio-visual aids. In addition to the basic course for beginners, advanced seminars will be offered to registrants who have taken previous courses. The following courses will be offered:

Problems in Medical Practice

Special attention will be given to techniques in the diagnosis and practical management of "the difficult patient"; in the observation of anxiety, depression and other emotional conditions; and in the methods and art of the psychiatric interview.

Problems in Pediatric Practice

In the basic class typical points of stress in the maturation and development of children will be delineated and considered. In addition there will be emphasis upon the technique of interviewing patients with emotional disorders. In the advanced seminar, instruction will be organized around actual cases according to the preferences of the group.

Problems in Obstetrics and Gynecology (Seminar)

This seminar will deal with the psychiatric and emotional problems of women occurring in the practice of obstetrics and gynecology and will include some didactic sessions on sexual problems. Although the course is an extension of the one given in the fall of 1966 newcomers are also welcome.

The program is supported by the United States Public Health Service, is co-sponsored by the New York County Chapter of the American Academy of General Practice, and is acceptable for ten and one-half hours of Category I credit for its completion.

Deadline for Registration: Monday, March 6, 1967

Fee: $10.00
